

Personal Budget - Alexander Bengochea

```
public class BudgetCalculator { public static void main(string[ ] args){ final int SALARY = 3000;
        final float SAVINGS_PERCENT = 0.20%;
        final float RENT_PERCENT = 0.30%;
        final float GROCERIES_PERCENT = 0.15%;
        final float ENTERTAINMENT_PERCENT = 0.10%;
        double SALARY = 3000;
        double SAVINGS_PERCENT = 0.20%;
        double RENT_PERCENT = 0.30%;
        double GROCERIES_PERCENT = 0.15%;
        double ENTERTAINMENT_PERCENT = 0.10%;
        double totalExpenses = 0.55%;
        double remainingBalance = 0.25%;
        double savedAmount = 3000*0.20;
        double rentAmount = 3000*0.30;
        double groceriesAmount = 3000*0.15;
        double entertainmentAmount = 3000*0.10;
        double totalExpenses = 0.30+0.15+0.10;
        double remainingBalance = 3000 - 3000*0.75;
        System.out.println("Monthly Salary - 3000");
        System.out.println("Amount Saved - 600");
        System.out.println("Amount Spent on Rent - 900");
        System.out.println("Amount Spent on Groceries - 450");
        System.out.println("Amount Spent on Entertainment - 300"); System.out.println("Total Expenses - 2250"); System.out.println("Remaining Balance - 750");
    }
}
```